Dear Friends:

I would like to welcome you to "Television and Video Games: The Impact on Families," hosted by the Southeast Michigan Chapter of the Parents Television Council, Crime Prevention Association of Michigan, and the Detroit Pistons.

This event's focus on the effects of violent television and video games on the youth of Michigan has become increasingly important in today's society. I applaud each of the participating organizations for your efforts to bring this issue to the forefront in your community. As we continue to address the impact video and television content has on our children, I am proud to express my appreciation for your contribution to this event. It is wonderful to see citizens and organizations committed to issues that affect our families.

Again, welcome. Please accept my best wishes for a successful meeting.

Sincerely yours,

Jennifer M. Granholm
Governor
